

Veterinary Emergency Guide (Dummy Data)

1. Vomiting in Dogs:

- If a dog vomits once but is otherwise acting normal, withhold food for 12 hours.
- Offer small amounts of water frequently.
- If vomiting persists or contains blood, seek immediate veterinary attention.
- Warning: Do not induce vomiting unless instructed by a vet.

2. Chocolate Toxicity:

- Chocolate contains theobromine, which is toxic to dogs.
- Symptoms include vomiting, diarrhea, rapid breathing, and seizures.
- Dark chocolate and baking chocolate are more dangerous than milk chocolate.
- Immediate veterinary treatment is required if ingestion is suspected.

3. Heatstroke:

- Signs: Excessive panting, drooling, red gums, lethargy.
- Action: Move to a cool area, wet with cool (not cold) water.
- Do not use ice water as it can constrict blood vessels.
- Transport to a vet immediately.

4. Seizures:

- Do not put your hands in the dog's mouth.
- Move objects away to prevent injury.
- Note the time and duration of the seizure.
- If it lasts more than 5 minutes, it is an emergency.
